Librex Newsletter - January 2014

Hi Marc-Andre,

Here's the January edition of our Librex Newsletter, which has the goal of keeping you informed about various Librex best practices and presenting you some of our new features.

New Librex Documentation Portal

We're pleased to annouce the availability of our new Librex documentation portal. This portal gives you an easier access to all of our Librex documentation and enables you to quickly answer many of your questions.

The portal includes our administrator guide, our user guides and our new quick start guide that allows you to rapidly and effectively install and start using Librex. Please note that some sections of the portal are still under construction and will only be released in the next weeks.

We would also like to receive your feedback and suggestions for this portal. We've built it with you in mind and want it to be your official landing page for any Librex question that you would have.

You can access the portal from the following link: Librex Documentation and Download Portal

Boost Your OCR Success Rate!

Librex includes the Tesseract optical character recognition (OCR) tool for free. It's a good tool that offers a valuable success rate and that allows you to optimize your capture operations.

But in some scenarios with a lot of documents or properties or if you have very complex documents to capture and recognize, improving the OCR success rate can be benefic. Adding the Nuance OmniPage tool will give you a better text extraction success rate and hence you'll have a quicker and more efficient process.

We now support the latest OmniPage version (19) that offers an improved success rate and performance. We'll also soon become Nuance certified partners, and will be able to offer you a free 30-days trial of OmniPage valid to OCR 1000 pages.

You may contact us if you would like to start an OmniPage trial.

Thank you for reading our Librex newsletter. We appreciate your interest in our solution and invite you to contact us for any question.

We also invite you to follow us on Twitter or like us on Facebook to get all the latest news on Corium and Librex.
